4. Recommended builds for YOUR use case

What Kimi Code / AI coding tools actually need: the AI itself runs in the cloud — your machine needs a strong multicore CPU, LOTS of RAM (IDE + browser tabs + Docker + emulators), fast NVMe storage, and a reliable PSU. The GPU only matters if you want to experiment with local LLMs or game on the side.

Tier 1 — Value (~65,000 EGP)

Cheapest sensible dev box, AM5 upgrade path: Ryzen 5 7600 (8,800) + B650M (6,000) + 32GB DDR5 (19,000) + 1TB Gen4 (6,000) + RTX 5060 8GB (20,000) + 750W Bronze (3,100) + case (2,500) Cheaper variant: i5-14400F + DDR4 board saves ~10K but is a dead-end platform.

Tier 2 — Sweet spot (~100–120K EGP) — main recommendation

Ryzen 7 9700X (14,500) + ASUS Prime B650M-A WiFi (7,800) + 64GB DDR5 (40,000) + 2TB Gen4 (12,000) + RTX 5060 Ti 16GB (35,000) + 750W Gold (4,300) + case + cooler (6,000) ~ 119,600 Tip: Budget valve: start with 32GB RAM (19,000) -> total ~99K, add the second kit later when the RAM shortage eases. The 5060 Ti 16GB's VRAM beats the RTX 5070 12GB for local-LLM dabbling at the same money.

Tier 3 — Serious local-LLM experimentation (~154K EGP)

Ryzen 7 9700X + TUF B650 (10,000) + 64GB DDR5 + 2TB + RTX 5070 Ti 16GB (63,000) + 850W Gold (5,750) + 240mm AIO Highest VRAM-per-pound new card available in Egypt (RTX 5080 16GB costs 90K+ for no VRAM gain).

5. Key buying advice

1. Prebuilt vs DIY is inverted in Egypt right now — store bundles (Technology Valley 58K, CompuMarts 75K/110K) are priced at or below the sum of parts because some listings predate the RAM spike. Check bundles first, but verify the exact RAM speed, SSD model and PSU brand inside — that's where shops cut corners.
2. RAM is the most inflated component in 2026. Buy 64GB only if you truly need it now; otherwise 32GB + upgrade later.
3. Avoid Amazon.eg for GPUs — listings like RTX 5070 @ 98,999 are far above specialist-store prices (~34–48K).
4. CPU choice: Ryzen 7 9700X @ ~14.5K is the multicore value king (vs i7-14700F @ 17.5K on a dead socket). Ryzen 5 7600 @ ~8.8K is the budget pick.
5. Payment flexibility: AHW Store (valU + COD), East Asia (up to 60 months), 2B (installments), Noon (split payments). CompuMarts explicitly has no installments.
6. Before buying: cross-check any quote on eg-pc.com / hardwarehubeg.com / egprices.com, and confirm stock by WhatsApp — most stores list numbers and it's the norm in this market.
7. Legitimacy signal: Elnekhely, Sigma, ElBadr, CompuMarts, High End and Hankerz are all Antec-listed official Egyptian e-tailers.
